Marco Chiudinelli Tenniscamp

6th to 13th April 2019

Train like a tennis professional:
prices from CHF 3600.-

Do you want to take your tennis skills to the next level and find out how to prepare yourself like a pro? Marco Chiudinelli, the former tennis professional with 18 years of experience, will guide you and demonstrate to you various «tricks of the trade» during a holistic and intensive practice week in Alicante, Spain. You will learn how to work on improving your game in a consistent and goal-oriented way. After the practices you will learn how to recover like a professional with the appropriate techniques of massage and physiotherapy.

Our Team

Marco Chiudinelli and his team of three former successful ATP-Players and the Swiss Davis Cup physiotherapist will individually coach and guide you during the six training days.

Marco Chiudinelli

During his 18 years as a professional tennis player he reached a World Ranking of ATP 52 and won the Davis Cup with Switzerland in 2014. By training and playing with the world's best players and coaches, he acquired a tremendous knowledge and know-how which he wants to share with the participants of the Tenniscamp.

Stéphane Falchi

As an established health expert with his own practice in Aix-en-Provence, Stéphane used to be Stan Wawrinkas personal physiotherapist from 2011 until 2016 as well as the physiotherapist for the Swiss Davis Cup Team from 2011 until 2017.

Our Programme

The training, which is led by four coaches, will be developed for and limited to a maximum of 16 participants and is focused on a personalised approach to coaching. This is the only way to ensure that each participant's game can efficiently improve. The daily amount of tennis training is about three hours. This corresponds to the duration which has proven best on the ATP-Tour.

The training concept for the six days includes a total of 16 hours of tennis training which is tailored to each participant on the basis of individual mentoring and coaching. This allows the coaches to respond to players of all levels, to individually adjust the training intensity according to their needs and thus to improve each participant's game. To ensure that the body is well recovering after each training session, just like ATP-professionals do, every participant will enjoy three physiotherapeutic treatments or massages with Stéphane Falchi.
